

Thursday, January 25, 2024
8:00pm-9:30pm ET

Danielle Perry, BSc DH, MSc

Danielle Perry is a registered dental hygienist who has received her Master of Science Degree in Oral Biology from the University of Alberta which was focused on epithelial barrier function in patients with severe periodontal disease and is finalizing her PhD which focusses on oral radiology through the ACTA University in the Netherlands.

Danielle's passion for research is fueled by the need for evidenced-based, patient centered care. Mrs. Perry has published over 20 papers in the international scientific literature and a book chapter published by Springer International. She has presented her work at leading international meetings in oral health, including the International Association of Dental Research and the EuroPerio conferences, and serves on the Editorial Board of the International Dental Journal, Dental Traumatology, Quintessence International and is an Associate Editor for Clinical and Experimental Dental Research. Danielle has been a clinical instructor at the University of Alberta and served as both Vice President for the Alberta College of Dental Hygienists and President for the Dental Hygiene Association of Alberta. She has also received several prestigious awards including the 2019 Sunstar World Dental Hygienist Award for Research.